The enterprise has been started by Chinese capitalists, under the protection of the Chinese government. The mine will be worked by Californians.

SEAMEN'S WAGES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—The Coast Seamen's Union has posted a new schedule of wages on the coasting lumber and coal vessels. The rates are $50 per month to open ports, $45 to bar harbors and $40 the islands, or an increase of $5 all around over the rates prevailing throughout the summer.

COLLISION ON THE INTERCOLONIAL.

QUEBEC, Sept. 22.—The news has been received of a serious railroad collision on the Intercolonial Railroad, between St. Moise and Little Metis. The engineers of both trains, it is reported, have been killed. Beyond this no particulars have yet been received.

THE COLOR TROUBLE.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 23.—The Senate yesterday passed a substitute for the Gleun bill by a vote of 23 to 13. The bill withdraws state money from educational institutes where classes are mixed, and makes graduates ineligible for teachers' places.

A BOODLER IN MEXICO.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—James Hunter, who decamped from this city last March, accused of having forged the name of James Long on two hundred dollars' worth of notes used in the business of the firm of John and James Hunter is now in the city of Mexico. Hunter's wife and two sons have gone to join him.

LOVE AND MURDER.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 23.—From an Indian territory special it is learned that the Rev. Alfred Reddington, Baptist minister from Alabama, was fatally shot last night while attempting to enter the house of a man named Glassmere, who lives on the line between the Choctaw and Chickasaw nations. Glassmere and Reddington were ex-Confederate soldiers, having served through the war in an Alabama regiment. Both loved the same girl, but she married Glassmere. When Reddington appeared in the neighborhood last week Glassmere became jealous and accused him of coming there to steal his wife, and ordered him away from the premises. To these threats Reddington paid no attention, and when he rode up to Glassmere's last night the latter met him in the yard and shot him twice and fled. The weapon was a double-barreled shot gun.

SERVED HIM RIGHT.

VIRGINIA, Nev., Sept. 21.—This afternoon James M. Douglass, an eccentric millionaire reported to be worth $5,000,000, was subpoened as a witness in a case, and failing to appear a bench warrant was issued for his arrest, and he was brought into court. When asked why he did not appear at the proper time he replied that he had forgotten it, and didn't care a d—n anyway. Judge Kehoe then imposed a fine of $100 and sentenced him to 24 hours' imprisonment for contempt of court, when the irate millionaire launched forth a volley of vituperation that caused the Judge's cheek to pale. He ordered a constable to remove Douglass, and amid considerable confusion the majestic captive was borne away to the county jail, escorted by an admiring troupe of the ubiquitous small boys.

SUICIDED FROM GRIEF.

SPOKANE FALLS, W. T., Sept. 20.—This afternoon Dr. Davidson Scott committed suicide at his rooms in the Arlington Hotel, he having taken an ounce of tincture of aconite. Dr. Scott formerly resided here, and practiced his profession for upwards of two years. He was a successful physician and surgeon, and made considerable money. Over a year ago, on account of the failure of his wife's health, he left the Falls for the east, to seek treatment for his wife. She died last winter. He arrived in the Falls about a month ago on a visit, and expected to return to the east. His health was broken, and he was ruined financially, at least the latter is suspected, although the deceased was so proud that he would not acknowledge being hard up when pressed on the subject by friends ready and anxious to lend him assistance. Some two weeks ago he took to his bed, the only trouble seeming to be a lack of vitality. About that time, imagining that he could not recover, he made an unsuccessful attempt to take his own life by the administration of a large dose of morphine. He was discovered in time and his life saved only to die by his own hands to-day. He has no relatives in this country, his only sister, as far as known, living in Iowa. An inquest will be held on the remains to-morrow.

SEWARD'S PURCHASE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 20.—Says an editorial in an evening paper: "Commissioner Dawson's report on Alaska confirms the growing opinion regarding the value of the Seward purchase. Mining, lumbering and fishing are lucrative resources, with tourists for bringing summer pocket money."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Commissioner of Education Dawson has just returned from his trip to Alaska. He thinks that the Indians of the country up there can be civilized. Dawson says the natives are not, in his opinion, of the same race with the Indians of the United States, but are descendants of a migratory people of Siberia. The compulsory education law goes into effect this fall, which will render the task of civilizing them much easier. A great many natives, he says, are professing Christianity, though their religion is interwoven with superstition.

A MURDERER'S DOOM.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—John Kernaghan, who beat out the brains of his sister-in-law, Martha Hood, with a hammer during a quarrel in October, 1885, and who is to expiate his crime on the gallows at noon to-day, awoke at 7 o'clock this morning from four hours' sleep. He partook of a light breakfast of regular prison fare. At 8:30 he was removed to cell 41, next to the stairs leading to the gallows. Here he engaged in prayer and prayed fervently for fifteen minutes and then sought consolation in the pages of the testament. A little later his cell was entered by the Deputy Sheriff, to whom Kernaghan stated he had determined to meet death stoically and make a statement from the gallows. He said he desired reconciliation with his wife, whom he has not seen for many months. Mrs. Kernaghan was sent for, but up to 11 o'clock had not appeared. Everything is prepared for execution and it will take place promptly at noon. Groups of idlers are standing outside of the jail, staring at the bleak walls of the place.

THE EXECUTION.

A few minutes after the doomed man's wife came up to the jail and was immediately admitted to the presence of her husband. The interview was a brief but affecting one. The couple embraced, kissed and parted, in the words of Kernaghan "to meet in heaven." As the bell of the city pealed forth noon, Sheriff McMann and the deputy left the prisoner's cell, followed by the latter, who firmly walked up the steps of the gallows. He stepped to the iron railing in front and made the following speech: "Gentleman, if it hadn't been for drink, and if I hadn't been a drunkard, I would never have sinned against God in committing crime. I was crazy mad when I did it. I have made my peace with God and am ready to meet death. Death, where is thy sting; oh, grave where is thy victory." Kernaghan was then bound, a noose placed around his neck, his head encased in a black cap, and the trap at 12:05 was sprung. Death was instantaneous.

CYCLONIC TEXAS.

GALVESTON, Sept. 22.—The News Brownsville special says: A cyclone visited Brownsville last night, carrying destruction in its path. The rain accompanying the storm deluged the country for miles. The loss to property and crops is very great. Thus far no lives are reported lost. The village of Santa Cruz, opposite Brownsville, was entirely submerged for several hours. The Rio Grande rose rapidly and raged like a sea, the backwater overflowing many miles of fertile country. The wind reached a velocity of over eighty miles an hour, blowing a perfect hurricane for a couple of hours. The rainfall during last night by actual measurement reached ten inches. The floods did almost as much damage as the wind. In Brownsville seventy small houses were blown down and 200 others were partially unroofed. In Matamoras dozens of houses of the better class and 200 smaller ones were prostrated, while 400 to 500 others are unroofed. In the country on the American side of the river incalculable damage has been done. Countless cattle and sheep have been lost. Crops of cotton, corn and sugar are completely prostrated and destroyed.

CANADIAN PACIFIC STEAMERS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—The steamer Premier now being built here, will not go into the Canadian Pacific service between this port and Vancouver, as has been reported. She is merely intended as an adjunct to the service of the company in the Northwest, and will be used to secure business as against the Northern Pacific at the Puget Sound points.

It was reported to-day that three new steamers to ply between the Canadian Pacific terminus and this city were being built for that company on the Clyde. The Canadian Pacific agent here knew nothing of the matter. It is deemed likely, however, that there is something in the rumor, as George Olds, in a recent letter to a business man in this city, states that independent communication between Vancouver and San Francisco would be established by his company ere long.

CHOLERA IN NEW YORK.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Surgeon-General Hamilton of the Marine Hospital service, has received a dispatch from New York, confirming the press reports of the arrival there of the steamer Alesia with cholera on board.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The steamship Alesia, which arrived below here last night from Marseilles and Naples with 600 passengers has cholera aboard. Eight of her passengers died on the passage, and on her arrival at quarantine grounds the health officer found four cases aboard.

HONORING A CHINESE GOD.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—Probably one of the most magnificent street pageants that has ever been seen in this city occurred to-day. It was a gorgeous demonstration in honor of the Chinese Joss, Tan Wong. A procession of Mongolians, all decked in the richest Oriental finery, and carrying handsomely draped and fantastic figures, with banging of gongs and deafening music, wended its way throughout Chinatown and attracted a great deal of attention. The figures in the procession cost $13,000.

CABLE NEWS.

O'BRIEN'S TRIAL.

CORK, Sept. 23.—Wm. O'Brien, editor of United Ireland, who is charged by the government with sedition under the Coercion Act, was taken to-day from Cork jail to Mitchellstown, where the alleged seditious language was used, to stand his trial before the court there. He was enthusiastically cheered on the way to the court. During the hearing of the evidence a procession armed with sticks and headed by a wagon carrying a band, marched into the town from the country.

Masonic Election.

The Masonic Royal Arch Chapter met at 3 o'clock this afternoon and elected officers for the ensuing term. A banquet will be given this evening.

CANADIAN NEWS.

THE PACIFIC CABLE.

OTTAWA, Sept. 22.—The British Government has intimated that it cannot undertake the cost of a special survey for the proposed cable between British Columbia and the Australian colonies unless a guarantee is given that the line will be laid. Sanford Fleming proposes that the colonies themselves should undertake the survey. Hon. Mr. Foster is favorably impressed with the suggestion, and if the government concurs communication will be had with the New Zealand and the Australian governments. Canada's contribution would be the steamer Alert, of Arctic fame.

ANOTHER M. P. GONE.

WATERLOO, Que., Sept. 20—Thos. Brassard, Conservative M. P. P., for Shefford, died this morning.

FATAL EXPLOSION.

LONDON, Sept. 20—The boiler exploded on the steamship Eibe today, killing eight men.

MR. BLAKE RESIGNS.

TORONTO, Sept. 19—Blake tendered his resignation as representative of West Bruce and an election will therefore take place almost immediately. Blake will represent West Durham.

At Woodstock, Ont., the other morning a farmer was offered 80 cents a bushel for his wheat, which he refused, and drove to Ingersoll, hoping to do better. The best he was offered there was 75 cents, so he traveled back to Woodstock, and was glad to accept the first offer, though in the meantime he had used up most of the day, had driven twenty miles and paid toll twice.

For the second time within two months railway traffic has been temporarily suspended in Arizona to the pecuniary profit of several merry maskers. It is becoming a matter of doubt for whose benefit the trains which traverse this territory are run. It really begins to look as if the companies were catering to the luxurious tastes of an aristocratic few.

The Columbian says: "Three cars containing 60 head of cattle, consigned to Goodacre, of Victoria, arrived this morning from Ashcroft. The cattle are from the Chilcotes country, and stood the drive, from the range to Ashcroft, as well as was expected. Mr. Hemans, who had charge of the drive, says the grass is plentiful along the route taken by him, and the hills and ranges are all in much better condition than last year for wintering stock."

A report has been started that the Queen may visit her Canadian Dominions. A very strong effort is being made to induce her to do so. It has been stated that Sir John A. Macdonald, the Canadian Premier, unanimously supported by the members of his government and by public sentiment, proposes to come to London and present a petition to the Queen, asking her to visit her subjects in North America. The whole story has probably been originated in the fertile mind of a reporter.

The offence committed by Deerfoot the young Blackfoot Indian in the Northwest, who is being sought after by the Mounted Police, and who is believed to have effected his escape across the border after the young men of his tribe refused to surrender him, is that he stole some blankets and other things belonging to settlers, and subsequently threatened to brain the first policeman who interfered with him. Deerfoot had an axe in his hand at the time and he would have made his word good had the police persisted in their efforts to capture him. He is a desperate man.

Broke His Arm.

A young lad named Berry, who drives a butcher cart for Mr. John Parker, had the misfortune to break his arm this morning about 9 o'clock, in front of the school on Yates street. It appears that he was driving rather fast when his horse stumbled, throwing him out of the cart. The horse then jumped into the ditch, when he was caught and disengaged from the cart by some of the larger school boys.

"JUMBO" TO "JUNIUS."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR—A letter appeared in the Colonist this morning which shows on its face the gross ignorance of the writer. "Junius" does not know that there is no watch kept in two of the fire houses, which contain as much valuable apparatus as the Yates street engine house. Perhaps he is also ignorant of the fact that prisoners were often tied to the valuable apparatus in one house without a word of comment from the newspapers. The two men in the engine house were having their regular sleep after attending to their duties, and the man on watch having three houses to attend to, might have been at another house. The reporter did not explain why he was visiting the engine houses and whistling for the men. Perhaps he was a fresh young man looking for an item to fill his paper; but "Junius" makes it appear that he was acting as a private detective, whose duties were to watch the "man on watch." If the engineer was absent why not report him to the Chief Engineer, who stands ready to attend to such complaints.

A SUGGESTION.

"When doctors disagree, who is to decide?" might be transposed to meet the situation of affairs in Victoria to something like this: "When councillors quarrel and engineers dispute about the most economical and most efficient method of improving the water supply, how is the unfortunate citizen to determine the right course to pursue?" To our mind the only reasonable, and the most common sense, method of surmounting the difficulties that now seem to compass the city fathers, is to submit the whole question, and all the schemes to a disinterested and competent engineer. We understand that Mr. Thos. C. Keefer, C. M. G., President of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers, and first vice-president of the American Society of Civil Engineers, is now en route to Victoria. Mr. Keefer supervised the water works system of Ottawa, and has much to do with the Water Works of Toronto and other large eastern cities. He is, we believe, a thoroughly experienced, and perfectly reliable authority on this question. Let his services be procured to make a careful and exhaustive examination and report on the subject. In no other way will anything like a satisfactory solution of the problem be arrived at. The public funds have been squandered, and inexcusable delays have already occurred; it will be money well spent and the time will not be lost that is devoted to an honest effort to arrive at the truth.

UNRESTRICTED RECIPROCITY

The Toronto Week observes that the rumored wish of the British Commissioners to obtain for Canada an exchange of natural products—otherwise a Reciprocity Treaty—with the States, in lieu of a money payment for any rights accorded the United States fishermen, as under the Washington Treaty, is, if entertained, most probably destined to disappointment. The States, if the exigencies of party permitted it, might agree to unrestricted reciprocity, opening a free market to their manufactures; but they will never agree to reciprocity only in natural products. That is their settled policy, pursued without deviation for some years past, for an object which was roughly expressed—perhaps with true brutal plainness, but nevertheless not without good grounds—twenty years ago at a convention of representative men from both countries. According to the Halifax Evening Mail, the late Hon. Joseph Howe was present, and he says that "Consul Potter was sent down from the State Department to the convention, and his argument was: 'Don't yield reciprocity to these Canadians. We have got a higher policy, and that is to coerce them to come into this Republic. Give no encouragement to the Canadians; give no aid to the discussion of reciprocity; and by and by we shall have these British North Americans so humble, so hampered; that they will be compelled, in order to live, to come in and form part of our great Republic.'"

THE RIGHT OF WAY.

On Victoria streets the cabmen, carters and van drivers generally hold undisputed sway. They are monarchs of all they survey, and are quite as ready to run down a pedestrian, who attempts to pass over a crossing, as they are to set the law at defiance in respect of fast driving. By what right we would like to enquire can the driver of a carriage force a lady to run across the street to avoid being knocked down? Has the law of the city given him the right of way, or does he simply make a law for himself? It is high time that some decisive action should be taken to settle beyond a doubt the important question of "Right of Way." We have heard that a certain bilious old magistrate sitting in a Montreal court decided that the time-honored right that pedestrians enjoyed this rule must be set aside as its continuance would interfere with the teaming business carried on in cities. To those who are so modernized and "go-ahead" as this old gentleman, a decision recently rendered by the Bow Street Police Court may not be in keeping with the times. Traffic in the streets of London puts that of Canadian cities completely in the shade, but there the rights of the pedestrian are respected and maintained as the following proves: John Stone, a van-driver, appeared to a summons charging him with driving to the common danger of the public. Police constable 144 A deposed that on the 29th ult. he was on duty at the Parliament street crossing. The Speaker of the House of Commons and his wife were crossing the road. The defendant was approaching with a van and horses and was ten yards off. Witness held up his hand to stop him, but he disregarded the signal, with the result that the lady was forced back. Mr. Vaughan said defendant should have stopped when requested by the constable, and fined him 10 s. A similar lesson, enforced by the police magistrate, would bring the drivers of butchers' and bakers' carts to their senses, and teach them that they cannot drive at a furious rate over crossings continually used by foot passengers. The police are generally short-sighted on such occasions and cannot see beyond the curbstone.

WILL THEY ARBITRATE.

If the tone of a certain portion of the American press, says a contemporary, is to be taken as an indication of the feeling respecting the result of the Fisheries Commission the proposition to submit the matter to the consideration of a Commission does not meet with universal approval. It is contended that Secretary Bayard has no power to appoint commissioners, and that his nominees would not occupy any official status. It is further contended that no settlement of the question can be arrived at until the terms are submitted to and approved of by Congress; and further, that the United States Senate will not approve of any settlement coming from such a source. There is no doubt that at the present time, when political parties are burnishing their armour and looking after all the paraphernalia required in a presidential contest, that every effort will be made by politicians of the different stripes to get together all the war material they can in order that it may be used to advantage in the approaching party struggle. There is one thing, however, which American politicians must not lose sight of, and that is that the United States complain of unneighborly treatment by Canada in the matter of the fisheries. Representations have been made to the Court of St. James, and in order that the question at issue may be disposed of in such a way as to remove all friction and cause of irritation between the two countries a joint high commission has been proposed to hear the complaining parties and redress their grievances—if grievances they have. Canada is not the complaining party. Canada does not ask the Imperial government to redress the grievances of which American fishermen complain. Canada only stands on the defensive, and says: We do our brothers no wrong; we carry out the treaty of 1818. The government of Great Britain will take care that her High Commissioners will treat only with those duly authorised to act in the matter, and will see to it that the terms of the reference are strictly carried out. If the claims of the American fishermen have any foundation on which to stand—and no one knows the solidity of it better than they and their advocates—an opportunity will be afforded them to test its solidity; but if, on the contrary, they regard it as hopeless for them to submit their claims for adjudication, they will certainly accomplish more on the eve of a presidential campaign by nursing a grievance which will not bear investigation than by submitting it to the dissecting knife of strict international equity and law. Mr. Bayard has now an opportunity which he should take advantage of and show himself master of the situation.

Should our neighbors so please they may follow up this week's celebration at Philadelphia with a whole series of centennials. While the constitution was adopted by the States in convention assembled on September 18, 1787, it was necessary before a government could be organized, that nine States should ratify the instrument. This the last of the nine did on June 21, 1788. Then, it was not until March 4, 1789, that the new constitution became practically operative, the government being organized on that date. Again, on April, 1789, General Washington was inaugurated as the first President, and the government, which had been created on March 4, was set in motion with two of its departments, executive and legislative, complete. The judiciary was not organized until after the approval of the Act of September 24, 1789, creating the Supreme Court.

Referring to the subject of commercial union at a political meeting at Kingston Hon. Wm. MacDougall said there was more smuggling done now between Canada and the United States than between any other two countries in the world. He said it cost an enormous sum to collect certain duties, and that the money came out of the products of Canadian people. They raised about $19,000,000 out of the $38,000,000 expended annually in carrying on the public affairs of the country. Mr. MacDougall admitted that it would be difficult to raise in Canada the amount of money with commercial union as without it, but the people could raise $19,000,000 in another way, and a way that would be just as collectible and reasonable. He said some people thought that commercial union would be a stepping-stone to annexation. He did not desire annexation. He was a British loyalist and would always remain one. If commercial union carried it would settle the fishery difficulty and all other pisputes. He was sorry that the Imperial Government had appointhd a commission to settle this question. It was hoped, however, that the commission would let the Canadians have something to say upon it, as the speaker thought they were better able to settle the points in dispute than an English commission.

Ayer's Hair Vigor keeps the hair soft and pliant, imparts to it the lustre and freshness of youth, causes it to grow luxuriantly, eradicates Dandruff, cures all scalp diseases, and is the most cleanly of all hair preparations.

AYER'S Hair Vigor has given me perfect satisfaction. I was nearly bald for six years, during which time I used many hair preparations, but without success. Indeed, what little hair I had was growing thinner, until I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor. I used two bottles of the Vigor, and my head is now well covered with a new growth of hair. —Judson B. Chapel, Peabody, Mass.

HAIR that has become weak, gray, and faded, may have new life and color restored to it by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "My hair was thin, faded, and dry, and fell out in large quantities. Ayer's Hair Vigor stopped the falling, and restored my hair to its original color. As a dressing for the hair, this preparation has no equal.—Mary N. Hammond, Stillwater, Minn.

VIGOR, youth, and beauty, in the appearance of the hair, may be preserved for an indefinite period by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "A disease of the scalp caused my hair to become harsh and dry, and to fall out freely. Nothing I tried seemed to do me any good until I commenced using Ayer's Hair Vigor. Three bottles of this preparation restored my hair to a healthy condition, and it is now soft and pliant. My scalp is cured, and it is also free from dandruff.—Mrs. E. R. Foss, Milwaukee, Wis.

A NEW INDIAN POLICY

As Proposed by Henry Guy Carleton—Soap and Spelling Books.

I confess that I regard the situation as grave and critical. There are 400 Indians, including squaws and papooses, on the war-path, and our total available force with which to resist their ruthless advance upon civilization is even less than 25,000 regular troops. Without wishing to excite unnecessary apprehension or create uneasiness in the large cities, I merely suggest it is evident that in the great struggle we can only hope for supremacy by the exercise of superior judgment and tactics, and by a desperate determination to resist the savages to the last gasp.

Although the secretary has at his call the advice of persons who have studied and mastered the Indian question during a long residence in Washington, and whose experience with savage tribes in New York, Philadelphia and other frontier stations enables them to speak with assurance, I trust he will not despise the few little hints I have brought with me from New Mexico and Texas.

The victory obtained by our forces over Geronimo is a notable precedent. This chieftain, with at least forty warriors, including a few boys and a couple of squaws, held Sonora and New Mexico in a state of siege for nearly a year. With only three battalions of cavalry and six companies of infantry, and with the support of a meager brigade of the Mexican army, we successfully prevented his invasion of the north, and when finally he ran out of ammunition and surrendered, we were almost able to guard him back to the reservation, and would have done so had he not ruthlessly broken away.

The good old days, when a territorial sportsman could go out any fine, clear morning and kill half a dozen Indians before breakfast, have passed away. It is now the policy of the government to conduct an Indian war without bloodshed, and of late years the effort has been entirely successful. The only question of moment is the one of expense. There are thoughtful statesmen who contend that to expend $2,000,000 and a year's time to capture forty Indians who would not bring a dollar and a half apiece at a sheriff's sale is unnecessary and wasteful. On the other hand, a too rigid economy might result in the Indians remaining permanently at large, and respectable citizens thereby lose their hair and become humorists, wandering north in great and destructive numbers to the terror of the inhabitants.

The real cause of the prolongation of New Mexican campaigns is the inability of officers to sit quietly down and map out the expedition in accordance with the rules of war. With a large family of red ants in the front parlor, a horned toad on the window sill catching flies, a centipede in his left boot and the uncertainty as to whether it is a tarantula or a scorpion he feels on the back of his neck, the commanding officer is in doubt whether to send for a case of paris green or a dose of bromide, and the tactical portion of his meditation naturally suffers. Then the constant necessity of keeping the bedposts deluged with kerosene is apt to make a general's calculations go wrong, and I have known the simple presence of a vigorous rattlesnake behind the post commander's trunk to break up his entire plan for a battle.

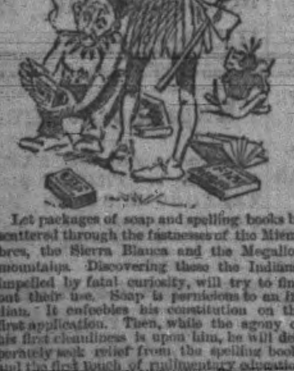
The climate is also somewhat prejudicial to military discipline and maneuvers. New Mexico rises [illegible] through the summer, and in midwinter the post trader cuts whisky with a buzz saw. There is more solid and substantial climate in one New Mexican day than can be found elsewhere in a year, and for an energetic officer to find his pack mules and bacon fried together at the end of a march is disheartening.

Perhaps through a desire to cater to the taste of the inhabitants nature has given New Mexico very little water. The rivers exist on the map, with the exception of the Rio Grande, which occasionally has water enough in its course to lay the dust. A "spring" is to be found here and there, loaded with alkali, epsom salts and green scum, with an occasional coyote mired in the center to give it a flavor.

The fauna of New Mexico are few, but of interest. Beside sixteen varieties of rattlesnake, twenty-one of horned toad and forty-two of lizard, there is the coyote and the greaser. The greaser is wealthier than the coyote. I have known an opulent greaser to possess two strings of red peppers, a bushel of corn, a peck of onions and seven dogs. One greaser, who lived near Fort McRae, was the Vanderbilt of the section. He had nine dogs. The coyote is so poor, he cannot even afford to keep fleas.

The coyote is superior to the greaser in that he sings. Shortly after midnight I have known officers who had but an indifferent ear for music to lie awake for hours listening to a chorus of coyotes, and expressing their opinion in the strongest terms. A coyote sings every night when he has no supper, and he gets a supper about once a year when he is in luck.

I have a suggestion to submit to Mr. Endicott.



Let packages of soap and spelling books be scattered through the fastnesses of the Mimbres, the Sierra Blanca and the Megallon mountains. Discovering these the Indians, impelled by fatal curiosity, will try to find out their use. Soap is pernicious to an Indian. It enfeebles his constitution on the first application. Then, while the agony of his first cleanliness is upon him, he will desperately seek relief from the spelling book, and the first touch of rudimentary education will kill him. This method is cruel perhaps, but it is sure.—New York World.

Gowns and Bonnets for Elderly Ladies.

Elderly ladies wear cottage shaped bonnets of smooth Milan straw, trimmed with loops and ends of gros grain ribbon, set in plaited fans of black lace. Dressy bonnets are made of black lace, with clusters of flowers for garniture. Real lace veils with borders are being revived for elderly ladies.

Canes and Umbrellas for Men.

Very large canes are covered with large heads of buckhorn or of silver, the silver ones being often made to simulate buckhorn. Umbrellas for men's use have thick sticks with heads similar to those seen on canes. There are also studded ivory heads and handles in large quaint designs.

PHYSIOLOGY AND HYGIENE.

Faith and Mind Cures and Other Subjects of Popular Consideration.

Faith cures and mind cures are at present a subject of popular consideration, and every day instances of the potency of this means of treatment are announced. Physicians, while recognizing the influence which may be exerted through the mind upon the body in many cases, regard these cures as a new delusion of the unscientific. Among clergymen who have investigated the subject is the Rev. E. C. Ray, of Hyde Park, Ills., who is reported to have arrived at the following conclusions: Apparent cures are often followed by a relapse, temporary improvement by permanent decline. From reported cases of cure we must deduct many of unreported relapses. It is not in human nature when a wonderful cure has been published abroad to follow it up with an account of a relapse coming afterward. Mistaken diagnosis accounts for many supposed cures. Physicians often, patients more often, mistake the nature of a disease. Temporary swellings are often called malignant tumors or cancers (thus cancer doctors get their reputations); hysteria simulates almost every other disease, so as to deceive even the most elect of doctors; dyspepsia produces symptoms of heart disease or other deadly illness. There can be no question that a large proportion of faith cures and mind cures, and a considerable proportion of cases under ordinary medical treatment are cases of mistaken diagnosis, the disease being less serious in its nature than was supposed.

Mistaken prognosis accounts for many cases; mistake as to what would be the outcome of the case if no curative methods were employed. It is a truth seldom recognized by patients, though well known to physicians, that in most cases not hopelessly fatal from the start, there is from the start a strong tendency toward recovery. Dr. Austin Flint, Sr., than whom perhaps no abler physician has lived in this land, always urged upon his students the truth that not drugs, but the healing power of nature, is the means of recovery. The wise physician and nurse seldom attempt more than gently and humbly to assist nature in her curative processes. The benefit of medicine is often not in its direct action upon disease or upon the body, but its action upon the mind and through that upon the nervous system and whole body, stimulating faith, hope, expectation of recovery, good cheer, which are probably nature's mightiest remedial agencies.

Political, Scientific and General Information on Matters Familiar.

The word acre is from the Latin ager, Greek agros, field. The Greek acker means both field and a measure of land. Most nations have some measure nearly corresponding, such as what one plow could plow in a day. The English statute acre consists of 4,840 square yards. The chain with which land is measured is twenty-two yards long and a square chain will contain twenty-two by twenty-two or 484 yards, so that ten square chains make an acre. The Scotch acre is larger than the English, and the Irish is larger than the Scotch.

The following table shows the values of other measures compared with the English acre:

English acre	1.

SOCIAL ETIQUETTE.

Manners and Customs Practiced in Polite Society.

There is really very little extra work in being absolutely methodical in every day living, and with this habit there ceases to be any anxiety in entertaining, says one well versed in fashionable dinner giving. There is nothing more distressing at a dinner company than to see a hostess ill at ease or to detect an interchange of nervous glances between her and her servants. A host and hostess seem insensibly to control the feelings of all guests, it matters not how many there may be. In well appointed houses a word is not spoken at dinner between the hostess and attendants. In every day living, if one has nothing for dinner but soup, hash and lettuce, put them on the table in style; serve them in three courses, and one will imagine it a much better dinner than if carelessly served. The above rule is prescribed for every day living. It is well that this simple ceremony should be daily observed for many reasons. The dishes themselves taste better; moreover the cook is more particular to have each article well cooked, and each dish is in its perfection.

An Unreliable Vessel.

Mrs. DeBaggs—John is overrun with business cares just now. By the way, is Mr. DeKaggs in business?

Mrs. DeKaggs—Why, yes, deeply. He told me that yesterday he bought 1,000 bales of cotton, 1,000 barrels of oil and I don't know how many bushels of wheat.

"He must be doing a large business. Where is his store?"

"He has no store. He says he has the goods on a 'margin'—some sort of vessel, I presume."

"Dear me, I'm so glad."—Philadelphia Call.

A Bright St. Paul Youth.

A well known St. Paul artist has a 5-year old boy who is given to cute sayings. Yesterday, viewing a picture of Liberty Enlightening the World, he asked who it was—the big lady. "Liberty," was the reply. "Oh, yes," he responded, "I know—Liberty, America's wife." Not bad, that. The other day he was telling a rather tall yarn to a gentleman, who interrupted him with: "Do you know George Washington?" "No," said the youngster. "Well, he was a very good man, who could not tell a lie." "What was the matter? with the quick retort; "couldn't he talk?"—Pioneer Press.

He says there is plenty of gold in the Yukon mines, but it costs more in hardship and privation than it is worth to get it out.

—The irate parent of a boy who received a severe thrashing at the public school, yesterday afternoon, reported the teacher to the trustees to-day. B. C. Garrison Artillery.

A district order, signed by Lieut.-Col Holmes, D. A. G., has been placed on the bulletin board. The order announces that annual gun practice will take place on Monday, Oct. 3rd, between the hours of 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. The batteries will be allowed three hours each. Lieut.-Col. Holmes will act as commanding officer, and Major Wolfenden timekeeper.

B. C. Timber.

Owing to the scarcity and high price of Oregon pine dealers in shipbuilding lumber in San Francisco are importing yellow fir from British Columbia. Shipbuilders say the material is splendid, the timber being straight as an arrow and not a knot in it. The raw material enters the U. S. free of duty. Our cousins have been a long time finding out the superiority of B. C. timber.

Onderdonk's Bad Road Making.

Hon. J. H. Pope, Minister of Railways, will, it is said, accompany Mr. Schreiber, chief superintendent of government railways, to British Columbia, in order to familiarize himself with those sections of the Canadian Pacific out of the construction of which the trouble has arisen between the government and the Canadian Pacific Company. The government evidently expect great difficulty in arranging a settlement.

Creme de la Creme Cigars; A. B. Gray & Co., Agents.

A New Industry.

In connection with his book binding establishment Mr. G. A. Roedde has gone into the business of manufacturing paper boxes. A number of samples shown us are fully equal to similar goods manufactured in San Francisco and the east, and as Mr. Roedde claims to be able to manufacture them as cheaply, there ought to be no difficulty in supplying the local market. Our merchants should examine these samples before purchasing this class of goods, and thus endeavor to foster a local industry.

Really! The Creme de la Creme.

Chinese Mechanics.

The walls of a brick cottage are about completed on North Park street, the entire work upon which has been done by Chinese mechanics—two bricklayers and a carpenter. Thus, in their onward progress to a higher civilization the despised Mongolian is supplanting the Saxon in every avenue of life; and it becomes only a question of time when our law, our physic and our religion will be prescribed by the meek-eyed descendants of Confucius. In a few more years Chinese bricklayers attended by white hod-carriers may not be an uncommon sight in Victoria.

Cariboo Assizes.

The Court of Assize at Barkerville opened on the 1st inst., Hon. Mr. Justice Walkem presiding. The first case tried was that of the Chinaman accused of blowing up his countryman's cabin, killing one old man and injuring several others. The case was adjourned to the spring assizes at Clinton, bail being refused. The next case was that of Dr. A Watt vs. G. Ferguson for libel, damages being claimed for $5,000. The jury awarded plaintiff $50 or an apology; the defendant preferred to pay the amount rather than apologise.

Third race on October 1st, at 10:30 a. m., triangular course of forty miles, starting at Sandy Hook Lightship. The course and sailing directions will be the same as those laid down for the trial races. Betting in San Francisco is even and a considerable sum is staked on the result. In this city the Thistle is the favorite in betting circles.

B. C. Lumber.

A correspondent writing from Port Townsend on the 16th concerning the lumber trade on the Sound and shipments says: The British bark Veritas, Capt. Johnson, has been chartered by Pope & Talbot to load lumber at one of their mills for Melbourne. Capt. Johnson returned yesterday from Victoria where he found to his great surprise that lumber cargoes were selling $1.25 per thousand feet less than on the Sound. This difference in the price will certainly induce foreign vessels to purchase their lumber on the British side. Our mills at present are too busy to attend to foreign orders. Every foot of lumber they cut is needed to supply the domestic markets.

The Titania's Cargo.

The British bark Titania, Dunn, master, chartered by Messrs. A Steady Drain.

The freight by the North Pacific today from the United States shows how the province is being drained of money for products that ought to be supplied by our own farmers. For instance, Angus & Gordan and the Hudson Bay Co., each received 408 packages of flour; Van Volkenburgh, 80 sheep and 59 hogs; and J. Jackson, 60 hogs. Every article here might be produced by ourselves, and, we might as well speak the blunt truth, it is discreditable that they are not. "Ill fares the land" that has to purchase the necessaries of life and permits a continual outflow of money for articles that are indispensable. Such a country must forever remain poor. We know of no occupation more remunerative than intelligent farming in British Columbia. There are fortunes—more than were made in the gold mines of Cariboo—for the enterprising agriculturists who go earnestly to work to supply the consumers with what is now purchased from a people who take nothing from us in return.

"Skipped."

"Laughter holding both of its sides" will be practically illustrated at Victoria Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, when the world-famous comedian Louis Harrison will be seen here for the first time in the plays that have made all America laugh "Skipped by the Light of the Moon" and "Out of the Frying Pan into the Fire." Speaking of the former play which will be presented on Monday and Tuesday evenings, the S. F. Call says: "Such another entertainment cannot be found on the foot-stool—at least on this side of it. That the piece is funny must not be even hinted; for the word funny does not fill the bill or describe the play. It is a phantasmagoria of mirth; a regular emporium of laughing gas. Moreover it is performed with a slapdash and rush that are captivating and infectious. One has scarcely time to breathe between the laughs, and naught is left in the minds of spectators an hour after the performance, except an exaggeration of silhouettes of Louis Harrison and the recurrent echoes of demoniac laughter." Seats are now selling rapidly for the entire engagement.

The Mayor Returns.

His Worship Mayor Fell returned last night from Cowichan Lake, where he passed a week pleasantly communing with nature and catching trout. He reports the land bordering on the lake as being rapidly taken up by enterprising settlers. At a house-raising "bee" on one ranch, about fifteen neighbors assembled, which shows that the district is being peopled very fast. His Worship was rowed to the upper end of the lake —25 miles distant—by a couple of hardy young Englishmen, who have a ranch there, where the night was passed, and returned again the following day. He has a most favorable impression of the country, and looks forward to its early development. The timber is the finest he has ever seen. The drive out, 25 miles over a rough road, was worse than being sea-sick on the Evangel, as the effect is more lasting. We are glad to see the genial face of His Worship again, and are pleased to know that his health, always good in consequence of a clear conscience, is even better than formerly. When asked if he was gathering additional strength for the purpose of the better fighting the beasts at Ephesus next year, he smiled serenely, and said, "that is for the people to say."

From the Interior.

Capt. Larkin returned on Wednesday night from an extended visit into Okanagan and Spallumcheen, with which districts the Captain is agreeably disappointed. He is a shrewd observer; a good practical judge of the capabilities of a country, so that his testimony is of vast value. He drove over a considerable portion of that country and found there were many thousands of acres still in virgin condition awaiting the hand of man to cultivate, a soil equal in richness of loam and alluvial soil to any he has ever seen. Here can be found farms for thousands of settlers. The land is not heavily timbered, in fact he found it to be an open park-like country, with a most luxuriant growth of grass in the woods. It is indeed a beautiful country; well watered and admirably adapted for farming. This section of the province contradicts the statement that there is no agricultural land to be found in the country in the most emphatic manner. The Capt.'s belief is that those knowing of its richness have been anxious to hide the fact from the public, well knowing that in a short time the whole valley would be studded with the homes of a happy, provident people.

The machinery in the new mill of Messrs. Rashdale & Lawes was put in motion last Saturday in presence of a number of visitors. Nothing could possibly work better or give greater satisfaction. Not a jar or a knock was felt, every movement was perfection. Grinding wheat began on Monday. The firm have a large supply of wheat on hand. In a few days their flour will reach Victoria where it will receive a severe test, for there it will meet the product of the Northwest and that of Oregon and California.

The people are clamoring for a railway to open up the interior country and afford an opportunity for the development of its latent resources. The construction of the Shuswap and Okanagan railway it is believed is now a question of but a few months.

Gone for a Wife.

Mr. J. G. Brady, U. S. Commissioner at Sitka, came down on the Leo, and has gone east to get married. He takes a big potato with him to prove to his prospective bride that icebergs and quartz mines are not the only things that grow in that hyperborean region. This is probably the first time on record that the succulent tuber has been used as an auxiliary in courting.

Church Social at San Juan.

The promulgators of a scheme to build a Presbyterian church at San Juan purpose holding an entertainment on the Island next Friday evening. The steamer Evangel, it is reported, will take a picnic party from this city to the old English camp. The day will be spent there and the evening passed at the entertainment. The Evangel will return during the night and a pleasant moonlight ride can be enjoyed.

Fire at Maple Bay.

The premises of Mr. Jas. Shopland, near Duncan's Station, in Cowichan District, were destroyed by fire on Tuesday night. The particulars have not been received, and the extent of the loss is therefore unknown; but it is supposed that the fire made a clean sweep of everything, buildings and contents. The origin is attributed to an incendiary, and Officer Miller is in the district making investigations into the case, with a view to tracing the crime home. The victim is a brother to Mr. Shopland, the well known farmer and stock raiser residing near this city.

Don't

let that cold of yours run on. You think it is a light thing. But it may run into catarrh. Or into pneumonia. Or consumption.

Catarrh is disgusting. Pneumonia is dangerous. Consumption is death itself. The breathing apparatus must be kept healthy and clear of all obstructions and offensive matter. Otherwise there is trouble ahead.

All the diseases of these parts, head, nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs, can be delightfully and entirely cured by the use of Boschee's German Syrup. If you don't know this already, thousands and thousands of people can tell you. They have been cured by it, and "know how it is, themselves." Bottle only 75 cents. Ask any druggist. *

Basket Picnic and Moonlight Excursion.

At the latter point there will be a Presbyterian festival in the evening, and being the county seat the attendance will be large. The steamer Evangel, Capt. J. W. Tarter, will leave Welch, Rithet & Co.'s wharf, near foot of Yates street, on Friday morning, Sept. 30th, at 7 o'clock, returning by moonlight after the close of the festival. Fare for the round trip $1.25, admission to the festival 25c. extra. The latter funds will be for the benefit of the Presbyterian Church, San Juan. A brass band will be in attendance, tickets can be procured from F. CAMPBELL or T. N. HIBBEN & Co., Government street. *

The "City of Destiny."

Tacoma is gradually approaching towards metropolitan greatness. In 1875 there was but one manufactory in Tacoma, three in 1880, twenty-eight in 1886, thirty-one in April, 1887, upwards of fifty now, and the largest smelter on the Pacific coast in process of erection. Now it claims to be the largest shipping centre on the Sound. In one day last May no less than 17 large ocean-going vessels were loading at one time, the 21st of that month. The Ledger says it is no uncommon sight to see a dozen ships in the harbor at one time. For the week ending Sept. 10, the shipments from Tacoma seawards are given as at 5,100 tons of coal, valued at $20,400; 3,237,000 feet of lumber, $39,325, and produce, $5,000; total, $64,725. Against Seattle's total of $24,700. The grand total for all the shipping ports on the Sound amounted to $147,078. The engaged tonnage remaining on the Sound loading for foreign coast ports was 72,199 tons, comprising 62 vessels.

British and Foreign Bible Society.

A meeting of the committee of the local branch of this most thoroughly unsectarian and useful society was held Friday morning at the residence of Rev. Mr. Star, when the resignation of the secretary, Mr. Siffken, who is leaving the province, was, with much regret, accepted. A cordial vote of thanks was tendered to this gentleman, who for the past fourteen years has faithfully, and at no small inconvenience to himself, acted in the above capacity. After the electing of Mr. Chantrell in the room of the retiring secretary, and the transaction of preliminary business, the meeting adjourned to re-assemble Friday, 7th Oct., at 4 p. m., in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, when measures will be taken to clear off the indebtedness of this branch to the parent society, and to more widely disseminate the Scriptures in our midst and in the outlying districts of the province. A supply of Bibles, Testaments and portions of Scripture in several languages—a generous grant from the home society—have for years past, through the kindness of Messrs. Hibben & Co., been in stock in their book store on Government street, where they can be obtained at small cost.

THE ARCHBISHOP'S MURDER.

Further Details Obtained at the Examination at Sitka.

Mr. J. G. Brady, who arrived on Thursday at Seattle from Sitka, has given the following additional particulars to the P.-I.:

"As United States Commissioner, it became my duty to conduct the examination of young Fuller, charged with the murder of Archbishop Seghers. There was but one witness, and that was the Indian Slidog, who was present when the deed was committed. The defendent refused to make any statement. The testimony of Slidog was very straightforward. He said the three were journeying together; that on the day previous to the murder the Archbishop seemed very much out of sorts, and whipped the dogs with his snowshoes and then threw the shoes away. Fuller picked them up and carried them some distance, and handed them to the priest, who again threw them away. The Indian then picked them up and carried them until evening. Traveling was very difficult, and but poor progress had been made that day. During the evening a spirited discussion took place between the Archbishop and Fuller, and the Indian judged from their manner that they were quarreling, but could not understand anything that was said because it was spoken in English. The next morning early they arose, and before breakfast, in fact before any words had passed between any of them, Fuller raised his rifle and shot Archbishop Seghers through the head. As he fell dead, the Indian jumped and grabbed the gun, but Fuller shook hands with him and indicated that he had no intention of harming him. After the testimony was all in, I held Fuller without bail to answer to the charge of murder.
